Davencorp Management Co. Chooses Remote Eyes® Video Management Midwest Systems and Services, Inc. services multiple restaurant locations

Laurel, Maryland, December 1, 2009 - Odyssey Technologies, Inc., manufacturer of Remote Eyes® digital video management systems, is pleased to announce that Davencorp Management Company, a Kentucky-based franchise operator of McDonald's® restaurants, has selected Remote Eyes for centralized remote management of video surveillance in all of its locations. The system design and installation was completed by Midwest Systems and Services, Inc. of Evansville, Indiana.

"The Remote Eyes system has already paid for itself many times over," states Art Davenport, owner of Davencorp Management. "With Remote Eyes, we are able to locate key forensic evidence very quickly both locally and remotely. The evidence we are able to obtain using Remote Eyes has been invaluable in defending our company against fraudulent claims for slips and falls, worker's compensation, and employee injuries. By installing the Remote Eyes system, we have immunized ourselves against frivolous lawsuits."

Bob Graper, President of Midwest Systems and Services, says, "We are proud partners with the Remote Eyes team and are pleased to recommend their products for customers like Art. We have implemented several hundred Remote Eyes systems throughout the midwest and built a very satisfied client base that is rapidly growing through word of mouth referrals."
